The Producers Association Has Several Million Barrels.

IT WILL GO ON THE MARKET.

When the Latter Will Pay the Cost and Furnish a Handsome Profit.

A DEAD SURE THING ON FIVE CENTS

Mr. N. F. Clark is one of the most prominent producers of oil in Pennsylvania, and has had much experience in all the oil fields that have been developed. His uniform success is something remarkable in the history of petroleum developments, and he is following up his good fortune by invest-ments in the oil fields adjacent to Pittsburg. Mr. Clark was one of the most ardent advocates of the last shutdown movement and one of its sincerest champions. He entered heartily into it, and, as a member of the Producers' Excoutive Committee, worked earnestly for it. The shut-down has ended and drilling operations are going on vigorously once more, and, while the oil market looks shaky, Mr. Clark is full of hope for the future. To the inquiry, "Did everybody get rich out of the shut-down movement?" he replied: "We have had a year and a half's production, we have greatly decreased the sur-plus stock of oil and we have increased the value of our property 50 per cent."

"Has the Producers' Association sold the oil set apart for it?"

"No, we still have it. We do not care to throw it on the market just at present, when the result would undoubtedly be to further depress it."
"How do the storage charges stand against the oil now?"

"Well, the storage charges have run the prices up on us. The oil probably stands us between 91 and 82 cents a barrel at present. But the Standard people have guaranteed us a profit of at least 5 cents a barrel and we can therefore afford to wait until the market is high enough to justify us in selling. We are sure of our 5 cents, anyhow."

HEY THE MERRY FISHERS.

The Many Clubs Think Seriously of Their Summer Ontings - Where They Will Probably Go-Few Decisions.

As a man once said: "What can you expect from a fellow who doesn't know how to spell his own name?" but the world expected a great deal from Izak Walton, and the world hasn't been disappointed; and every year hundreds of admiring disciples of the gentleman show their appreciation of his greatness.

Pittsburgers are rather inclined to take the bit in their teeth very early this year. They also take to the woods, and under overhanging boughs, and beside rippling waters, pay, for a few days at least, their respect to glorious Dame Nature, and show they fully appreciate the privilege of being allowed to HOLTZMAN—On Thursday, May 18, 1889, at

Pittsburg is blessed with an unusual number of fishermen, and they are royal good fellows, every one; and, at about this time of the year, the business man longs to let business take care of itself, and the doctor is in truth inclined to throw his physic to the dogs.

It is a little early as yet to ascertain where the numerous fishing clubs will go, for—as one of the gentlemen said—they will probably change their minds half a dozen times before deciding as to the exact loca-ion, though Conneaut, Eric, the St. Clair, locking and Caredon ill be seen as the conlackinac and Canada will be embraced At 9 o'clock this morning the following ned gentlemen will meet the Passenger nts' Association and argue with them, how them where they are dead wrong avancing fares for clubs, and in cutting criain privileges: Messrs. B. C. Christy, M. L. Howe, J. Dolan and S. Church.

These gentlemen will endeavor to show the great monopolies they are threatening the peace of this country in cutting off the fishing clubs' privileges. Heretofore the rates have been single fare for the round trip; but it has been increased to the price of a fare and a quarter to any distance. Suffering Pittsburgers might bear this meekly, and make no sign, but the railroads say the friends who visit them during their camp must pay full fare; and here's the rub. Generally the number of visitors more than equals the number of members in a club.

About the middle of next month the small clubs will begin to quietly fold their tents and steal a ride. Then, on toward July 10, numerous other jolly fellows will form. numerous other jolly fellows will form and take a trip far away. Along in August and September the harassed business man, the carewore professional man will drop away silently and go as far from scenes of care as possible.

How the People Are Taking Hold of Fleishman's Novel Scheme.

The scheme to determine which of the city papers is the most valuable as an advertising medium, now in operation at the store of Fieishman & Co., promises to be even more successful than was at first anticipated. People with clippings visit the store in flocks, and carry away with them handsome souvenirs. The scheme has already been described in this paper. Stated briefly it is this: The firm of Fleishman & Co., with a view to testing the comparative value of their various advertising mediums, decided to present a souvenir to every purchaser of goods to the value of $1 or more, provided the purchaser brings with him a copy of the firm's advertisement clipped from one of the city papers. These clippings are being filed away carefully, and each paper is given credit with those that come from its pages. At the end of a stated period the paper having the largest number of clippings to its credit will be declared the winner. The scheme is a novel one and will be as accurate as any that could be devised.

Ladies who patronize the store, and nearly all of them do, should remember to clip Fieishman & Co.'s advertisement from their favorite paper before going to make purchases, as by so doing they will benefit themselves, as they will get a beautiful souvenir, benefit the newpaper from which the advertisement is clipped. The souvenirs are handsome enough to amply repay any one for the little trouble it takes to clip the advertisement and take it with you when you go to make your purchases.

The bright weather of the past few days has kept the big stores on Market street thronged with people from morning until night. The clippings have been coming in, and the souvenirs going out with remarkable rabidity. Everybody is talking of the scheme; everybody is delighted with it.

Fleishman & Co. have filled their new stores with a stock that is both seasonable and reasonable. The very cream of the fashions may be had at the prices you will pay for last year's goods elsewhere. The nilllinery department is booming, blooming. The l
